Citizens Enjoyed Christmas
Music Broadcast From Gobin
Memorial Church

The city and the adjoining rural areas yesterday, there was much Christmas visiting, with family dinners being held in many homes, the menus being built around a centerpiece of turkey with its usual accompaniment of "fixings" of appropriate kind and quantity.

Many local residents went visiting, joining groups in other homes to celebrate the day with festive parties. There was a more lavish exchanging of gifts, purchased, for the most part, from the city stores, where there was a variety to choose from, and a saving of costs, so that the presents of the intended recipients were fully met, for the most part.

Travel through the city on state highways was not heavy, most of the commercial vehicles being off the roads for the holiday, and the passenger cars that traversed the city's streets, on the route of the state highways, were occupied by families on their way to visit in other places, returning, later in the day, from out of town.

East 36, extending east and west from the north central part of the city, and the National road, east and west south of the central part, had a normal Christmas traffic, even on them the heavy commercial vehicles were not running to great extent.

One of the most pleasant features of the Christmas day in Greencastle was the adjoining area was the broadcasting, from the Gobin Memorial church, of a delightful hour's program of Christmas music, from 12 o'clock with Handel's magnificent Hallelujah Chorus, from a recording of the original production of the London Choral Society, and the London Symphony Orchestra, these broadcasts from the church were carried on through the preceding two weeks, most of the music from recordings, but at times program was original from the choir of the church, with its chimes, led by Dr. Van Denman Thompson, church organist.

The broadcasting system was sufficiently powerful to carry the music through the air a distance of a mile more from the church at times, lighting rural residents as well as town's citizens.

COAST GUARD REPORTS 11 MEMBERS ARE MISSING

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 26.—(UP)—Eleven coast guardsmen from the Point Arena station were missing early today and authorities feared that they may have drowned in attempting to reach the disabled lumber schooner Stanwood 15 miles off the coast from Fort Bragg, Cal.

More than 24 hours had passed since the men put out from the station in a motor life boat and a motor surf boat. When the cutter Shoshone reached the side of the disabled 627-ton schooner early today the Shoshone officers were told that neither the life boat nor the surf boat had been sighted.

Indiana Visited By Rain And Fog

NO SNOW IN SIGHT TODAY;
TEMPERATURE WILL REMAIN MILD

Drizzling rains and fog continued throughout Indiana today with the forecast from Indianapolis indicating heavy rains by this afternoon or tonight, according to J. H. Armstrong, chief meteorologist of the Indianapolis weather station.

Temperatures varied only five degrees throughout the state ranging from a low of 44 degrees recorded at South Bend to a high of 49 degrees reported at Richmond at 1:30 A. M. Weather bureau officials said Indiana's mild temperatures during the past few days have been caused by a low pressure area moving northward. The center of the low area may reach here tonight, bringing with it heavy rains followed by a drop in the mercury Friday.

Temperature drops of 15 degrees in the northern part of the state and 10 degrees in the south portion are expected.

Armington said there probably would be no snow within the next 36 hours, although there may be light falls late Friday night.

Reports from points throughout the nation on Christmas day revealed that record high temperatures prevailed and with snow reported only in very isolated spots and but little in the entire United States.

Residents who have driven to points in the south in former years reported the temperature here today was typical of what they passed through in southern Tennessee, Alabama and northern Georgia and Florida enroute to the gulf coast or to points in the deep south.

PONY PRESENTED CHILDREN IN LIVING ROOM OF HOME

Dr. and Mrs. Gilbert D. Rhea presented their children, Roddy and Rheta with an unusual Christmas present, a fair sized pony. The pony was walked into the living room of their east Washington street home, where the children found it on their arrival down stairs, after having been sent up-stairs while the horse was brought into the home. The taking of the pony into living room, in fact, its going in, was unusual, but it walked in deliberately and was as gentle as a dog while in the house, despite the fact that both children were soon astride it, all toggled out in cow-boy hats, boots etc.

DEATH OF MRS. MCCOY

Mrs. Loretta C. McCoy, 88 years old, mother of Mrs. C. C. Connelly, who resided in Greencastle a number of years ago, during the time Mr. Connelly was bookkeeper for the old firm, Allen Brothers, died at the Connelly home, 638 Walnut street, in Terre Haute, Tuesday afternoon. Besides Mrs. Connelly she is survived by another daughter, Mrs. Martha Bullock of Indianapolis; two sons, Frank McCoy and Fred McCoy, both of Rockville; fifteen grandchildren, seven great-grandchildren and several nieces and nephews. The body was taken to Rockville where funeral services were held there afternoon.

DEADLINE FOR ALIENS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—(UP)—Today is the last day on which aliens may register and be fingerprinted in accordance with the new registration act.

Earl G. Harrison, director of registration, said arrangements had been made with postal officials in the larger centers to keep their offices open until midnight to accommodate belated registrants. "To those who have deliberately decided to violate the law or to 'chance it,' there is nothing we can say," Harrison said. "They have forfeited any claim of mercy and must suffer all the consequences."

GREEKS CLAIM NEW VICTORIES ON XMAS DAY

REPORT SUCCESSES IN TEPE-LINI-KLISURA SECTOR IN ALBANIA

ITALIANS LOSE MANY MEN

"Disastrous Setbacks" Suffered By Italy In Counter-Attacks On Greek Positions

ATHENS, Greece, Dec. 26.—(UP)—Greek troops won smashing new victories in the Tepelini-Klisura sector of southeastern Albania Christmas day, an official spokesman said today.

He said several more villages were taken in that area and that the general advance still was under way, although Italian black shirts and Alpini units were being thrown into the battle as reinforcements "with surprising indifference to the sacrifice of human life."

The Italians suffered "disastrous setbacks" in their counter-attacks, before resuming their retreat northward, the Greek spokesman said. He said that at one point the Italians reinforced a section of their line heavily with the most experienced troops, but had been thrown back after a three-hour fight.

The fighting moved north of Tepelini and Klisura, main Italian bases in the area, controlling the roads north of Berat and west to Valona, but the Greeks still had not announced the occupation of either town. Both were reported still within range of Italian artillery. The government spokesman did not specify any positions taken by the Greeks, except to say that they had won some strongly fortified mountain emplacements west of the Drinos river, where they routed Italian Alpini at bayonet point and captured eight cannons and 10 heavy machine guns.

272 Meet Death Over Christmas

HEAVY TOLL IS REPORTED
OVER NATION AS RESULT OF HOLIDAY

By United Press

Crashes on the roads, fires and miscellaneous accidents all contributed to the mounting toll but highway accidents alone led the list. At least 187 persons were killed on the roads during the one-day holiday as thousands hurried to and from their homes for celebrations. Airplane, train, auto crashes and fires and other accidents brought the total to 272 early today.

California led the states with 33 dead, 29 of them on the highways. New York counted 30 dead and Pennsylvania 18. Texas reported 16 killed, Illinois 11 and Michigan and New Jersey 10 each.

Seven persons were killed in one accident at Ways Station, Ga., and seven more died in a collision near Lexington, Neb. Four Zion, Ill., high school students en route to Kenosha, Wis., to sing Christmas carols at a church celebration, died in another highway accident.

Maurice Krummery, 10, died at a farm near Hastings, Mich. The coroner said his death was caused by a heart attack induced by excitement over his Christmas presents.

Two Youngstown, O., men were killed and a pilot injured when a private plane crashed at the Youngstown airport.

TRAIN WRECKED

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., Dec. 26 (UP). Sheriff Earl Hinkle of Belmont county said today a Baltimore & Ohio passenger train had been wrecked at Stewartsville killing at least one man.

Another man was reported pinned beneath the locomotive. Three ambulances were sent to the scene from Bellaire, 12 miles east of Stewartsville. The eastbound train was due in Bellaire at 10 a. m.

FUGITIVE CAPTURED

DECATUR, Tenn., Dec. 26 (UP)—Charles Coates, Missouri fugitive and slayer of a Georgia Highway Patrolman, was tracked down and captured four miles east of here shortly before last midnight and was taken early today to Dalton, Ga., to be held for trial.

His capture ended a five-day search by a posse of Georgia and Tennessee officers who had scoured the hilly country along the Tennessee river since Coates shot to death Corporal Fred Black of the Georgia patrol near Ringgold, Ga.

PRESIDENT WORKS ON SUNDAY RADIO TALK

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—(UP)—President Roosevelt turned from a two-day celebration of Christmas today to prepare a fireside chat on the "present emergency" to be delivered to the nation Sunday night.

The chat, his first since last spring, is expected to give some general clues to what he will have to say to the new Congress in his state of the nation message when it convenes Jan. 3. Much emphasis probably will be placed on the administration's plan to loan or lease military equipment to Great Britain.

Also expected this week, or at least before Congress meets, are executive orders delegating board powers to the new defense council created by the President to speed production of armaments. The new office of production management is the key units in speeding more airplanes, ships and munitions to Britain.

Britain Ready For Nazi Drive

TROOPS ALONG CHANNEL ON ALERT FOR EXPECTED
INVASION

LONDON, Dec. 26.—(UP)—British troops along the English Channel have taken extraordinary precautions against a possible surprise invasion attempt by Germany despite an unofficial Christmas truce in the air war, it was learned today.

Perfect "invasion weather" prevailed along the coast yesterday. The result was that the heavily armed guards posted along the invasion danger zone were doubled as a safeguard against any lightning German thrust through the blanket mist which covered a calm sea.

Picked troops armed with Bren guns and other automatic weapons combed the beaches and watched every cliff and fissure in the tall white cliffs. Coastal highway traffic was halted at barricades and drivers were ordered to produce their identity cards and also were searched for weapons.

It was understood the precautions would continue during the holiday season.

Putnam County Gets 3 Bridges

BRIDGES WERE PROPERTY OF FORMER INTERURBAN
COMPANY

To the already onerous responsibilities of the Board of Commissioners there has been added the new burden of the upkeep—or razing—of three bridges over which Putnam county highways crossed the former electric railroad, all three of the bridges being southwest of Greencastle.

There has been consummated a deal whereby Bowman Elder, receiver of the Indiana Railroads, Inc., "does hereby quit claim, transfer and convey" and otherwise washes his hands of responsibility for these structures, which, it is believed, are the last pieces of property in the county which are being abandoned by the former traction interests.

One of the bridges is on the Mt. Olive road, north of the Tilden farm; another is west of Linedale, and the third is in Washington township.

The traction company receiver not only presents the structures to the county without charge, but he gives the county $400 for accepting them, and relieving the receiver of the responsibility of having to keep them in usable condition. The amount is to recompense the county for any repairs needed now, or for the cost of taking down one or all of the bridges, the restoring the highways to grade crossings.

The transfer of the bridges, it is set out, will remove from the receiver any obligation for damages due to their existence, any obligation to remove them, and, finally, any liability or responsibility for their maintenance in usable condition.

UNITED PRESS

The remains of Mrs. Margaret Jones, former resident of Greencastle, were brought here for burial this afternoon, following funeral services which were held in Indianapolis at 1 o'clock today. Mrs. Jones died Monday, at the age of 67 years. She was the widow of William Jones, the family living on Ohio street in Greencastle in former years. She was the mother of William A. Jones, stepmother of Mrs. Rose Ash and Harvey Jones, sister of Mrs. Daisy Hudson, Mrs. Ella Sears, William and Charles Parrish, nearly all of whom reside in Indianapolis. Mrs. Jones removed to Indianapolis some fifteen years ago.

Lifeboat Of Nazi Sea Raider Seen

EMPTY BOAT SIGHTED BY PORTUGUESE SHIP CARRIED NAME "HAMBURG"

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—(UP)—Reports that an empty lifeboat marked "Hamburg" had been sighted adrift 300 miles off the coast of Portugal indicated today that a German sea raider may have come to a disastrous end.

The Hamburg is a 22,337-ton liner of the same type that Germany has armed to prey on Atlantic shipping. The British armed merchant cruiser Carnarvon, Castle encountered one of them 700 miles northeast of Montevideo, Uruguay, Dec. 5, and was damaged in a running battle during which the German ship escaped because of superior speed.

The sighting of the lifeboat was reported last night by Capt. Joel Gomes of the tiny Portuguese freighter Goncalo which docked after its first Atlantic crossing. He said he saw the boat 200 miles east of the Azores Dec. 11. Surveying it through binoculars, he found that it was empty except for two oars, and he could read "Hamburg" on its side, he said.

Shipping circles believed that some British warship might have disposed of the Hamburg. The British admiralty withholds news of the sinking of German submarines and sea raiders.

TO DISCUSS RECORDS

John C. Peterman, extension economist, of the farm management department of Purdue university, will come to Putnam county December 30 to discuss farm records with the farmers of the county, who have been keeping records, in cooperation with Purdue university.

On that day, Mr. Peterman and David L. Grimes, Putnam county farm agent, will visit these men at their homes. These farmers are Lowell A. Dicks, Fillmore; Victor Thrall, Fillmore rural route; Clyde Cash, Greencastle route 3; Hall & Evans, Greencastle route 1; Howard Hostetter, Bainbridge; Eugene D. Hutchins, Roachdale; Raymond Cress, Roachdale; Paul McGaughey, Russellville.

SOFIA DENIES NAZI TROOPS IN BULGARIA

NOT A SINGLE GERMAN SOLDIER IN COUNTRY, SOFIA DECLARED TODAY

TURKEY HAS NO REPORT

Istanbul Has No News Of Any German Troop Movement Into Rumania And Bulgaria

BULLETIN

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Dec. 26 (UP)—Diplomatic sources reported authoritatively today that Germany's boasting her "garrison" force in Rumania toward 500,000 men, possibly to aid Italian troops bogged down in Albania or to bulwark her own position in the Balkans.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Dec. 26.—(UP)—Official circles denied today reports from Budapest that German soldiers were in Bulgaria. It was insisted that there was not a single German soldier in the country. Likewise, reports that King Boris had threatened to abdicate if German troops were based in Bulgaria were denied as mischievous, stupid rumors.

Border towns had no information of any German troop movements into Bulgaria.

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Dec. 26.—(UP)—Well informed foreign military quarters here and at Ankara, the capital, said today that they had no news of a reported German troop movement to Rumania via Hungary.

Turkish authorities have taken no new precautions, it was understood. However, Turkey, is on a full war footing. Martial law pertains in Thrace and other vital areas.

A well informed source just back from Rumania, thought the arrival of any large new bodies of German troops in Rumania would be most significant, since Rumanian authorities were not counting on an increase.

This informant estimated the number of German troops in Rumania now at 42,000 and suggested that any big new movement via Hungary might mean a shift of German troops toward the Russian frontier in Poland.

It was estimated here that Germany had at least 70 divisions, 1,050,000 men, on the Russian-Polish frontier, and that movement of additional troops to that border over the antiquated Polish railroads would be difficult. Informants reported that Germany was building at least two submarines at Rumanian Black Sea ports and that several speed boats, en route to the sea, were trapped in the Danube when it froze.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Dec. 26.—(UP)—Germany has started to move a self-contained army of between 300,000 and 350,000 troops into Rumania by way of Hungary, and has based a limited number of men in Bulgaria, diplomatic quarters reported today.

New German army headquarters have been established at Arad and Temesvar in southwestern Rumania, which it was understood, are the bases for the new army. Temesvar is about 18 miles from the Yugoslav border.

It was reported here that between 1,000 and 1,200 trains had been requisitioned for the transportation of the German soldiers through Hungary.

The movement was expected to approach full speed Saturday. The Director General of the Hungarian state railroad announced last Monday that there would be a drastically curtailed railroad train schedule effective Saturday.

War Flashes

(By United Press)

An informal Christmas truce reigned today on the British-German air front but Britain's coastal defenders stood on the alert against a surprise Nazi invasion thrust and reports of large-scale German troop movements troubled the Balkans. Both British and German communities reported air activity at a standstill. There was no indication when operations would roar back to full war pace.

WITH THE BRITISH AT THE SIEGE OF BARDIA, Dec. 26.—(UP)—A ring of at least 250 cannon, including heavy naval rifles, today hurled shells into the besieged Italian port of Bardia.

British cannon poured an endless fire into the Italian positions all day Christmas and the bombardment continued today.

There were occasional infantry engagements between light British patrols and Italian outposts in the no man's land around the Italian encampment.

ROME, Dec. 26 (UP)—Italian planes intensely bombed the British advanced base in Libya Christmas morning and scored a hit on a British warship off the coast, a high command communique said today.

ROME, Dec. 26.—(UP)—An Italian submarine sank a British light cruiser in the central Mediterranean last Friday night during an attack on a naval formation, the high command communique said today. The sinking was confirmed by air reconnaissance, it was said.

DANIEL FROHMAN IS DEAD

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—(UP)—Daniel Frohman, famous theatrical producer, died today.

Frohman, producer of numerous dramatic successes in his long career in the legitimate theater, was 89 years old.

LITTLE PROGRESS MADE WITH RUSSIA BY JAPS

TOKYO, Dec. 26 (UP)—Japan has made little progress in its attempts to effect rapprochement with Russia, the influential newspaper Nichi reported today, despite the efforts of Lieut. Gen. Yoshitsugu Tatekawa, new Japanese ambassador to Moscow.

Lack of progress was due, Nichi asserted, to Russian misapprehension that Japan was soliciting its favor because of the "necessity" for its expansion southward, as well as because of its policies toward China and the United States.

Inspection As To Corn Loans Begun

The corn loan inspector in Putnam county has begun work in connection with the 1940 corn loan program. One inspector will be employed in the loan program this year, according to Ora A. Day, chairman of the County AAA committee. The inspector will be Henry M. Heavin, member of the county committee.

Judging by inquiries received at the county AAA office since the 1940 corn loan program was announced, Mr. Day says, the amount of corn sealed this year may be less than last year, when farmers placed 19,418 bushels of corn under loan in Putnam county.

Loans on 1940 corn are available to farmers in Putnam county at the rate of 61 cents a bushel. Any farmer who wants to take out a loan should notify the county AAA office. As in former loan programs, an inspector will visit the farm, measure the crib, and take a sample of the corn which will be tested for moisture content and grade. As soon as the sample is graded the farmer will be notified to come to the county office and complete arrangements for his loan. In most cases, Mr. Day said, a farmer will be able to complete the necessary papers and obtain his loan in one visit to the county AAA office, provided he borrows from a local lending agency.

The feature of the 1940 corn loan program which appears to be of greatest interest to farmers, Mr. Day says, is the fact loans will not mature until August 1, 1943. If, however, the farmer loses possession of his farm, or if a tenant is requested by his landlord to remove corn from the structure in which it is stored, the corn may be delivered to the Commodity Credit Corporation during the fall of 1941. This provision protects farmers who would like to store their corn for the full three years but may be unable to do so.

"The 2-year loan is an outstanding advance in developing the Ever-Normal Granary of corn," Mr. Day stated. "Under previous loan programs, farmers in the country have built many new cribs and bins. Now they are equipped to store more corn on their farms than ever before without the inconvenience of resealing it from year to year. This gives farmers the opportunity to build the Ever-Normal Granary on a long-term basis and put it on a sounder foundation than ever before."

Another important change in this year's loan program is that loans will be available for the next 10 months, until September 30, 1941. Mr. Day said that is expected to extend the price-strengthening effect of the loan program throughout the 1940-41 corn marketing year.

Mr. Day estimates that farmers who participated in last year's corn loan program received $2000 more for their corn than they would have received by selling it at market prices at the time it was harvested in 1939.

LEGION'S TOY CAMPAIGN LARGEST IN SIX YEARS

The Putnam County Post of the American Legion completed its distribution of Christmas toys Christmas day, but a large quantity went out to families who called for them on Tuesday. The Legion members and helpers wrapped packages for 406 children. These packages include toys, candy and nuts.

Paul Grimes who was in charge of the toy campaign, personally delivered a number of packages Christmas morning, as did others who called to help in case some children had been overlooked. In most cases, the families of those checked by the Legion, called for the packages. The Legion checked off 36 families from their list which were taken care of by the Christian church which had a large collection of toys and gifts which they had reconditioned.

This toy campaign was the largest and most complete of any the Legion has had during the past six years and many boys and girls were made unusually happy Christmas eve and Christmas morning as a result of the work of the Legion, the firemen and others who assisted and through the splendid co-operation of the people of this community.

SPECIAL JUDGE CHOSEN

attorneys representing the two principals in the suit this forenoon struck off the name of one of three judges of adjoining courts named by the clerk of the Indiana Supreme court, leaving Howard L. Hancock of the Putnam circuit court and he was named judge of try the contest.

Mrs. George Snider entertained following guests at Christmas dinner Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. Snider and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Quinn Heaton of Lafayette, Mrs. E. H. Snider and Evan of this city.

IT HAPPENED IN INDIANA

A Township Secedes

Before the outbreak of the War, the people of Sugar township, Shelby county, were in favor of seceding from the state and joining the Southern states. On February 16, 1861, at a convention held at Boggs town, Creek township, several resolutions were passed, one of them was that if "we must be cast out or the other portion we do of prefer to be attached to the Southern Confederacy."

These resolutions were signed by a Kentuckian who was visiting the township, and taken to the state as a sample of public opinion in Indiana. Known as the Boggs resolutions, they were republished in the United States and read over the end of the South to the north. They were an important factor in stimulating the belief among Southerners that the western states would join the Confederacy. (Historical Shelby County, Brant & Puller, Chicago, 1887).

The Fire Is There!

The following letter, which Mayor of Indianapolis has received is calculated to make the winter easy. It accounts for the extra warm weather at present:

May 15,

Dear Sir:—I propose to furnish the heat necessary to run all manufacturing works and to the heating of business houses in the buildings in your FROM THE FIRE WITHIN EARTH, provided your citizens pay a sufficient sum to do so. The machinery will cost $150,000, and the labor $500,000, thereabout. You may think it possible; but nothing is impossible. THE FIRE IS THERE! Address: James H. Rynerson, Box 30, Clayton, Indiana (Sullivan, Ind., Democrat, 26, 1870).
